Dear Sue,

Sorry to be so long getting back.

I've had pneumonia and pleurisy. Coming along fine, thanks.

(And for sinus, of which I've had more touches lately, that Sudafed is magic!)

There is a project ready now. I have all the work to date in hand. It will require checking old directories.

Rather than making copies of the work done to date, which can be done, I think it would be better if you went over this work and evolved your own method of carrying it further and then made your own notes.

I think you may enjoy this one.

Especially when you learn its purposes.

We have no special plans for any weekend but we never know when someone may drop in unexpectedly. Another presence with yours would be no problem.

Now that the days are longer, perhaps your work will have you in our area and you might want to take pot-luck on supper? Remember, you can cross the river at Point of Rocks, if your work takes you northwest of DC on the Virginis side.

Best,

JL- on the Nat Press Bldg/Munsey checking.
Have you an extra set of carbons, without making xeroxes?
Or any ideas, suggestions?
